Charles Pachter

With both love and wit, Pachter has frequently turned his hand to the depiction of some of Canada's familiar symbols.

Images Studio Tour

Pachter's foreign travels include: France, Spain, Italy, Corsica 1962 - 1963 ; Mexico 1964 ; France and the Greek Islands 1968 ; Tokyo, Kyoto, Taiwan, Bangkok, Singapore, Macau, Hong Kong 1985 ; the Caribbean island of Bequia 1985 ; the south of France 1990 ; Key West 1990 ; Budapest, Vienna, Prague 1999 ; and India 2005. Pachter's ongoing search for Canadian symbols led to his claim that butter tarts were as indigenous to English Canada as croissants were to France, or doughnuts to the U. When he finally entered the house on Peter Street, of which he took possession at the beginning of April, it was a similar scene.
