Building Rapport

Our eBooks are ideal for anyone who wants to learn about or develop their communication skills, and are full of easy-to-follow practical information and exercises.

Building Rapport

It is much easier to build rapport with someone who is very like you, or who shares a lot of your interests. Let go of stereotypes and any preconceived ideas you may have about the person.

Trusteer

We tend to vary our voices, pitch, volume and pace to make what we are saying more interesting, but it also has an effect on how we come across. Make sure the other person feels included but not interrogated during initial conversations. Give plenty of eye-contact but be careful not to make them feel uncomfortable.

Rapport

Like it or not, this is why small talk exists: it is a way to try to find things in common with other people and build that shared bond. This will actually help you develop rapport more easily.
