There are levels to the contemplation, such as leading a good life, disavowing ourselves of evil intent, and most importantly contemplating God's love. Thus, it occupies a central place in.

Book of Revelation

Surely anyone who presumes to approach this lofty mountain of contemplative prayer through sheer brute force will be driven off with stones. For the writer had, as it seems, both the requisites of discourse, that is, the gift of knowledge and the gift of expression. .

But Domitian having been put to death and his acts, on account of his excessive cruelty, having been annulled by the senate, he returned to Ephesus under Pertinax and continuing there until the time of the Emperor Trajan, founded and built churches throughout all Asia, and, worn out by old age, died in the sixty-eighth year after our Lord's passion and was buried near the same city. Domitian may not have been a despot imposing an imperial cult, and there may not have been any systematic empire-wide persecution of Christians in his time. Even England, it seems, can produce a genuine spiritual master.
