Globalization and future of power relations in the Arabic Middle

In this regard, citizens have duties, not rights. Rather it follows a course that aims at resolving the problems of the lending of the financial centers and economies and protecting the dominant economic center.

Africa and Arab Gulf states : Divergent Development Paths and Prospects for Convergence

None of the Middle Eastern countries have done spectacularly well, which is very interesting. As for the unemployment figures, it shows an increase in the rate of unemployment and deterioration in the conditions and qualities of job opportunities. More importantly, most of these water resources are not controlled by the Arab states, which may lead to wars and conflicts with other states in order to secure this vital commodity.
