Water

Nutrient mass balance for the Albemarle-Pamlico Drainage Basin, North Carolina and Virginia. Development and evaluation of predictive models for measuring the biological integrity of streams. Watershed characteristics of stream sampling sites in the Flint River Basin and Tennessee River Streamflow in the Tennessee River at river mile is divided by Hobbs Island into right and left.

Puget Sound Basin NAWQA

Since TOPMODEL Beven, 1997 is often used in watershed studies, efforts might be directed toward adapting it to treat chemical transport. Some rudimentary attempts using TOPMODEL to simulate the transport of dissolved organic carbon DOC have already been made Boyer et al. It began in 1994 with estimation of phosphorus loads from different sources in each basin using export coefficients, land use, and population density as described in Reckhow et al.

5 NAWQA Cycle II Goals

To understand the origin of contaminant sources in greater detail, supplementary high-resolution sampling may be needed.

Water

Study-Unit Design Guidelines for Cycle II of the National Water Quality Assessment NAWQA. Later topics addressed by the national synthesis component of NAWQA included volatile organic compounds, trace elements, and ecological synthesis in that order. The sequence of events suggested in the NIT planning document Gilliom et al.
