Recall that a parabolic element is R-parabolic iff it stabilizes an R-slice and is C-parabolic iff it stabilizes a unique C-slice. For $\Gamma \in \{C, R\}$ recall that an F-circle is the accumulation set, in S^3 , of an F-slice. In this chapter we do not assume that our group Γ is a horotube group.

Our proof has two themes. OnBuy's main online bookstore has listed a total of 1525218 covers on OnBuy, and has been awarded a constant buyer feedback rank of 5. On the other side, we obtain spherical CR uniformizations for infinitely many Dehn surgeries on the same cusp of the Whitehead link complement.

I'll explain how the spherical CR surgery result constructs many examples of spherical CR structures on closed manifolds - including closed hyperbolic manifolds. .

Spherical CR geometry and Dehn surgery

We say that a parabolic element P is irregular if it. The result is very similar to R. .
