Natural Law Theodicy: The natural law theodicy maintains that the things of this material world have the capacity to bring us either pleasure or pain, depending upon how they are used.

1854 Oregon Superintendency Correspondence

The Mormons, in accordance with this arrangement, have made choice of Grand Island, up the Platte river, a large tract which has a salt spring upon it. I submit these questions to the Government in view of the arrests that are likely to be made of persons who are engaged in commission of high crimes against the Government of the United States and the wholly insufficient accommodations that now exist at Fort McHenry for the safe-keeping of prisoners.

Problem of Evil (Overview)

The problem is solved by the principle, That happiness consists in the activity of our faculties, and that the arrangement by which good follows obedience, and evil disobedience, to the natural laws, is more conducive to self-regulated activity, than a system would have been in which choice, judgment, and self-action should have been superseded by a natural, irresistible, and ever present restraining power, interposed at every moment when man was in danger of erring. What glorious reports would they make when they went back to England? I put a guard of twenty men under an officer in the boat to escort them to Fort Monroe as a measure of precaution.

A physician dwelt in the house of young Linton's father, and the young boy, anxious to glean knowledge from every source, would read the medical books thus accidentally thrown in his way, and at once evinced a strong inclination to become master of their contents. It is highly useful to the young, in enabling them rapidly to learn; and at all periods enables us to assimilate our manners and feelings to those of the persons among whom we live.
