Multilateral Cooperation for Global Recovery by Emmanuel Macron, et al

The Union Minister drew attention to recent progress made in the fight against COVID-19, citing global economic recoveries now occurring, vaccine distribution drives, and the potential for a newfound sense of bipartisanship and multilateral cooperation, noting that at some point in the coming months, rates of injection would overtake rates of infection and that the light at the end of the tunnel would begin to shine brighter.

Multilateral Trade Agreements: Definition, Examples

Over the past decades, two major crises have disrupted our societies and weakened our common policy frameworks, casting doubt on our capacity to overcome shocks, address their root causes, and secure a better future for generations to come.
