Lastly, there is an urgent need for the government to convene a foreign policy summit to, among others, address issues such as re-defining our national interest, refocusing our foreign policy in such a way that it will radically shift from focusing on Africa as the centerpiece of its foreign policy but to a purely national interest driven foreign policy thrust which we will minimize loss and increase gains as well as tying it to the socio-economic growth and development of our great country. This obviously is not unconnected with the serious systemic problem within the domestic arena, which has culminated into this palpable situation where we have become a nation which has moved from the sublime to the ridiculous in the way and manner the world relates with us. Nigeria is a country with a high political risk, low GDP per capita, and large infrastructure needs, all factors that contribute to a volatile and risky operating environment for banks.

Dr Olufemi Adedusi: U. N AT 50: A CRITICAL EXAMINATION OF THE PERFORMANCE OF AFRICAN MICRO

. During his tenure, the was adopted into international law. The Soviet Union as well as the Eastern bloc always voted with Nigeria and Africa on these issues, Garba, 1987.

Africa: Turkey Seeks to Strengthen Africa Relations With 'Benevolence'

In this respect, Africa should no longer be the only reason for the existence of our external relations. United in the aversion to continuing colonialism and the apartheid policies of South Africa, most African States, radical or moderate, Casablanca or Monrovia, pro-East or pro-West, micro or middle power, supported by the Afro-Asian and members of the non-aligned movement have by their votes in the General Assembly succeeded in moving the United Nations from a conciliatory policy of pacific pressure, adopted between 1945 to 1960, from Resolutions regretting, deploring and depreciating, changing albeit increasingly in strong language, to Resolutions condemning, isolating and boycotting her products.
