Helen Keller (U.S. National Park Service)

In 1894, she began attending Wright-Humason School for the Deaf in New York City and in 1896, she returned to Massachusetts to enter The Cambridge School for Young Ladies, a preparatory school for women. Zoellner Quartet, a celebrated string quartet of the early 20 th century, once played music for her, only to be left surprised by her ability to interpret their work of art.

Helen Keller Statue, U.S. Capitol for Alabama

She fell in love with her private secretary, but her family prevented their marriage In 1916, after Anne Sullivan had fallen ill, Keller hired Peter Fagan, a Boston Herald reporter who has seven years younger than her, as her private secretary. He believes in bringing about positive change to the world through good-natured humor and innovative technology. All that we love deeply becomes a part of us.

Helen Keller Statue, U.S. Capitol for Alabama

In the end, this blind and deaf woman succeeds in sharpening our eyes and ears to the beauty of the world.

Helen Keller (Author of The Story of My Life)

Helen Keller was an American writer, is known especially for being the first deafblind person to graduate from college. Today, our programs prioritize preventing vision loss and blindness—as well as addressing major global health problems such as malnutrition and neglected diseases that threaten sight and well-being. It shows Keller as a seven-year-old girl wearing a pinafore over her dress.

Did Helen Keller Fly a Plane?

These trips included a hugely successful 1948 trip to Japan where around two million people came out to see her; and a five month tour through Asia in 1955 when Keller was 75 years old.
