The book was not quite what I expected.

No Place Like Home: A History of Domestic Architecture in Springfield & Clark County, Ohio by Berkhofer, George H.: Fine Hardcover (2007) 1st Edition

South Fountain Street Historic District is just off of downtown Springfield and I would say it has one of the best assortment of late Nineteenth Century Victorian homes in Ohio. Following the Columbian Exposition in 1893, Springfield followed the main lines of American architecture, providing more homes for an expanding middle class.

By the mid-1850s the Italianate style began to dominate the Springfield scene. The home was built originally with redwood siding, along with a stone wall feature in the front. With homes ranging from the early 1800s to modern day new-builds, Springfield offers a rich history and home styles from craftsman to contemporary.
