Large Victorian Desk Thermometer By Henry Hughes & Son Of 59 Fenchurch St, London

The marking is invariably produced by die stamping, which is an inherent part of the manufacturing process, and backmarks produced in this way continue to be used to the present day. One of the projects spotlighted in the first batch of cases studies is the Walbrook Building in City of London. Early plans record that the St John's Wood Railway was to extend to Hampstead High Street.

DWF Global Legal Business, Global Legal Services

In general, dates should be regarded as approximate, and not exclusive unless the context indicates otherwise.

Hughes Woodland Trust

The steel for the project was supplied by William Hare, with erection of the 6,300 tonne frame being completed in February 2009. The Worshipful Company of Clockmakers was established under a Royal Charter granted by King Charles I in 1631.

H. Hughes and Son Ltd, London

The Hall was an old chapel that was re-decorated and fitted by local volunteers in 1915.
