Grand Union Canal Walk

The use of these platforms is not apparent, neither is it evident what purpose the great thickness of the south-west wall could have served.

South Wales Personal Tours

This plant has no family connection whatever with the common samphire, C. Soon after, a gentleman of Merton College, who was one of our little company, which now consisted of five persons, acquainted us that he had been much rallied the day before for being a member of the Holy Club; and that it was become a common topic of mirth at his
