Chapter 8

The legislation included a grandfathering provision that allowed Grapevine to accrue all revenue from some development around the terminals. Civic Plaza offers more pre-security concession choices than most airports, providing accommodation for airport staff and passenger meeters and greeters in the pre-security area.

Airport risk management in conflict with environmental management Diverse and often conflicting demands are made on airport land, facilities and management. Because these activities are directly to the BCEC, the tax revenues and fees they generate represent value attributable to the BCEC.

Airport Improvement Program (AIP) -- Airports

An economic analysis could quantify the catalytic benefit to the region triggered by the capital investments and the resulting additional local, state, or regional taxes generated. Strategically designing the terminal and placing concessionaires as such increases the passengers' time to shop or dine before flights. Public Workshop 3 public workshops were held throughout the development of the project to provide citizens with an opportunity to provide input.

The purpose of this page is to provide a central location for information on the study process, schedule, and meetings, and to provide an opportunity to submit comments or contact a study representative.

Airport Development

Thus, the percentage of revenues coming from the vehicle rental surcharge has decreased from approximately 18% in 2005 to 12. Membership of most CACGs is by invitation only and generally consists of representatives from the airport, federal and state governments, Airservices Australia, and local communities.

Chapter 6 — Airports

Airport staff solicited interest from concessionaires; determined the priority mix of food, beverage, and retail space; negotiated vendor contract agreements; and, ensured contractual compliance from concessionaires. This impact can be mitigated through non compete agreements. Management Approach The Authority implemented a direct contracting approach for its concession program to ensure strong customer service, representation of local brands and businesses, and maximized revenues.

Airport Engineering, Design, & Construction — Airports

LEANMANAGEMENT APPROACH The Authority developed and implemented its concessions program with a staff of three and currently manages the program with the same number of staff.
