Kingston upon Hull

However bad it was during the blitz, we should remember that it could have been much, much worse had it not been for people now long forgotten; and it's also worth remembering that many of them were actually German. Of these one or two were in business on a fairly large scale: John Holmes and Alfred Ansell, both of whom gave evidence before the Royal Commission of 1885, owned seventeen and eleven respectively in 1878. The parishes surrounding Hull did fall in with the new Act and formed into the Poor Law Union.
