Improving Assessment In eLearning Programs

We think assessments have gotten a bad rap over the years—perhaps for good reason, perhaps not.

Do Your Assessments Improve Learning?

The overall objective of the school is to have as complete a record of the growth and progress of each pupil as an individual as possible. Peer Assessment Peer assessment is a type of where students evaluate the work of their peers and have their own evaluated by peers.

How to improve student engagement with Assessment for Learning

When using rubrics for making assessment judgments, only focus on the criteria presented in the rubric. They know that students rarely write well on an initial attempt.

Assessment and Evaluation

“ Return pupils' entry forms to the Examination Board promptly.

The Assessment Process

How a Student Compares One of the key functions of standardized testing is to compare students to each other across age and grade levels.

Q&A: Strategies for better assessments in online learning

Thus, you must design activities that help students achieve the objectives you set in the planning phase. This is, of course, extremely bad practice on the part of the teacher as all pupils deserve an equal opportunity for success at their own level.
