Policy Responses to COVID19

This Clause also provides that behaviour directed at a person includes behaviour carried out with or through a third party. The Clauses also recognise under special circumstances later objection in court is allowed. Having considered the issues raised and the assurance provided by Department of Justice officials that the clauses as drafted would not have the unintended consequences of criminalising normal family disagreements which clearly should not fall within the scope of the offence, the Committee agreed that it is content with Clauses 5 and 18 as drafted.
