I think that's a perfectly reasonable approach. There are extremely important questions raised there; it raises important questions about the equal status of the Welsh language in our courts here in Wales. Ni allwn wneud hyn ar ein pennau ein hunain fodd bynnag.

Felly, cawsom y cyfnod atal byr.

But what is the final goal? So, what is your Government intending to do to ensure that human rights are maintained in Wales in the post-Brexit era? Diolch yn fawr, Neil, ac rydw i'n falch iawn eich bod chi wedi gofyn y cwestiwn yn Gymraeg. So, this is about how we try and make sure there is enough supply available. Indeed, there would be no Hinkley Point power station in prospect if it weren't for the UK Government's decision to pay ridiculous amounts of money for energy to be produced in many years' time, more than twice the going rate that we have at the moment.

First of all, in English-medium schools, it's hugely important that Welsh is taken seriously. Gan fod Arriva ei hunan wedi tynnu allan o'r broses yna, pa sicrwydd medrwyd chi ei roi i'r bobl yn y gorllewin a'r canolbarth, drwof fi, fod y buddsoddiad staff presennol yn mynd i aros, o safbwynt yr orsaf trwsio a chadw a chynnal sydd ym Machynlleth, ac, wrth gwrs, y staff yn y gorsafoedd ar draws y rheilffordd? And what I will seek to do is to move beyond the conversation about funding, into a conversation about the sort of society and the sort of communities we want to protect and to invest in in Wales, and that means a holistic approach to policy that sees volunteering as a part of not just how we deliver services, but a part of what our communities actually will be in the future.

Felly, mae angen iddynt wybod: pa dystiolaeth wyddonol ar gau'r farchnad dai sydd gan Lywodraeth Cymru nad yw Lloegr yn meddu arni? Trefnydd, a gaf i alw am ddatganiad am gyngor ar gaffael yn y sector cyhoeddus y mae Llywodraeth Cymru yn ei gyhoeddi? Thank you for the question. It's quite right to say it's not all about sport and more to do with activity and exercise, of course. I'm also a bookworm, but it is important to point out that libraries provide an enormous range of services.
