Africans were largely against the Ahmadiyyas; the Ahmadiyyas were the first to translate the Quran into Swahili, and the Sunnis opposed that as well. Perhaps there are no easy answers, but we would be unwise to not raise the question.

The State of Missions in Africa • ABWE

We have more opportunities and more resources; we are the benefactors of more past experience and research than any previous generation.

African Christian Mission

Public money was spent only on the small number of government schools, totaling nineteen when Governor Guggisberg assumed office in 1919.

Africa Inland Mission International

Economic goods alone do not exhaust the human desire for consolation. The curriculum focuses on understanding Arab culture, the role of Arab Christians, and how to minister in the region.
