Turkey Travel Advisory

View You and your travel companions including may feel well and not have any symptoms, but you can still spread COVID-19 to family, friends, and community during and after travel.

International Travel: Tips for Staying Healthy

We don't want to pay precious dollars for a great trip, only to spend days in the bathroom - and many of those bathrooms are not like the ones back home. Immunisations which are now routine in childhood in Australia should also be considered if travelling to areas where these diseases remain common.

Travel

Do not go to work or school for 14 days. Countries that operate public health-care systems often have long wait times for certain operations, for example, an estimated 782,936 Canadian patients spent an average waiting time of 9. Many international hospitals today see obtaining international accreditation as a way to attract American patients.

USDA APHIS

Cloth face coverings may slow the spread of COVID-19 by helping keep people who are infected from spreading the virus to others. Avoid eating foods from street vendors, unpasteurized dairy products, and raw or uncooked seafood.

Your Guide to Masks

This body assists hospitals and government around the world in setting patient safety policy and practices that can become particularly relevant when providing medical tourism services.

AARP® Official Site

Most diseases acquired by travellers are not serious, but it is important to detect a serious infectious disease early. However, social distancing is difficult on crowded flights and sitting within 6 feet of others, sometimes for hours, may increase your risk of getting COVID-19. For up-to-date information and travel guidance, check the health department where you are, along your route, and where you are going.
