Perhaps this is what happened to our parents.

Little Wolff's Wooden Shoes by Francois Coppee

I have loved and cared for him all his life, yet that isn't enough. Just above the bench placed near the door of the church, in the very spot where, the night before, a child in a white garment and with bare feet, in spite of the cold, had rested his lovely head, the priest had found a circlet of gold imbedded in the old stones.

The Poem Halsey Shared at the Women's March Is a Must

Then they talked, too, of all that the Christ-Child was going to bring them, of all he was going to put in their shoes which, you might be sure, they would take good care to leave in the chimney place before going to bed; and the eyes of these little urchins, as lively as a cage of mice, were sparkling in advance over the joy they would have when they awoke in the morning and saw the pink bag full of sugar-plums, the little lead soldiers ranged in companies in their boxes, the menageries smelling of varnished wood, and the magnificent jumping-jacks in purple and tinsel.

Stories of Mormon Pioneer Women for Talks and Lessons

In Wang's case, her in-laws had demanded the matchmaker find their son a wife with tiny feet. I have a friend who lost her only child to a genetic disorder. Explore the passing of the year and the varying themes of life and love.

The 10 Best Shoe Quotes of All Time

Thus, I have steeled myself and taught me to be satisfied with my own company, hoping that God takes me out before I need to have someone help me in any infirmity. She improvised by hooking two of her wagons together, having her oxen pull twice the load.

The Forgotten Mother, Aging Poem

They think their Mom is perfect - I love her too, don't get me wrong - but they save all their criticism for me. Some of us have done all that yet we have been totally cast aside.
