Norwich, Cathedral

The responsibilities of this office include overseeing the creation and implementation of safe environments programs and policies.

Remains

The chapel, originally founded as St Catherine's see S1 , was refounded in 1168 27 April following the supposed martyrdom of St William of Norwich in 1144. The resistivity survey was less successful, principally due to the site's topography and geology and the presence of dense vegetation.

Remains

The Catholic Family Services office provides resources and support to parishes and families to promote and celebrate happy and holy marriages and families. OFFICE FOR SAFE ENVIRONMENTS The Diocese of Norwich and its parishes, schools, and other affiliated institutions are committed to providing safe environments for children, young people, and adults.

There were images on the dial that may have represented the hours; 30 other images represented the days of the month.

Norwich Cathedral

As with most Norman Cathedrals this would not always have been the case, when originally built both walls and windows would have been a riot of colour. It nevertheless keeps its early identity essentially intact.

Records of the Dean and Chapter of Norwich Cathedral

Within this enclosure are the remains of a possible building platform. The date of the dissolution is not clear, but in 1550 the site was leased out by the Dean and Chapter to William Bleverhaysset as 'the chapel-yard called St William in the Wood' Blomefield 1806, 425.

Vol. 68, No. 2, June 1999 of Anglican and Episcopal History on JSTOR

The date of its dissolution is unclear, but the last offering is recorded in 1506, and by 1556 the site was leased out by the Dean and Chapter. AEH seeks to raise the level of discussion, provide a forum for exchange of ideas, and review books of real worth and of interest to educated Anglicans. Other men who were hired to complete the job in London ruined the material, and the dial plate was only completed to a satisfactory standard after the clockmaker Robert de Stoke rode to London to supervise its construction.
