

Pulse of Europe - a survey of political and social values and attitudes

Times Mirror Center for the People & the Press - Chapter 2: Social and Political Views

Description: -

-pulse of Europe - a survey of political and social values and attitudes

-pulse of Europe - a survey of political and social values and attitudes

Notes: With special edition of Los Angeles Times world report, The pulse of Europe.

This edition was published in 1991

Filesize: 61.510 MB

Tags: #American #Social #and #Political #Attitudes

Survey Specification

This has been challenged in the 21st century by the increased racial and religious diversity of Europe, and the. By contrast, most atheists 56% say they are politically liberal.

Consumer Ethnocentrism in Two Emerging Markets: Determinants and Predictive Validity

All information under reserve with respect to completeness, details, ongoing developments, or migration of internet resources.

Chapter 2: Social and Political Views

Merritt, The USIA Surveys, In: R. There is substantial disagreement among Christian groups on this question.

Political Values in Postcommunist Europe

Among mainline Protestants, for example, 44% support the GOP and 40% favor the Democratic Party.

Chapter 2: Social and Political Views

As shown in Table 3, however, there was no relationship between ethnocentrism level and foreign product purchasing in Mexico. For instance, only slim majorities of members of evangelical and historically black Protestant churches 54% and 52%, respectively support the imposition of stricter environmental laws.

The Deloitte Global 2021 Millennial and Gen Z Survey

The place of the European family is changing, with fewer Europeans opting to marry, their ages at marriage rising, their divorce rates growing, their fertility rates declining, more children are being born outside marriage, and single-parent households becoming more usual. Although Mormons and members of evangelical Protestant churches are less likely than others to favor diplomacy over military strength, pluralities of these groups also take this view 46% and 49%, respectively.

Methodology

However, at least four-in-ten Catholics 43% , Orthodox Christians 42% , members of mainline Protestant churches 41% and Muslims 41% say they feel their values are threatened by the influence of Hollywood.

Survey Methods

Catholics, Muslims and members of historically black Protestant churches are basically evenly divided on the question of abortion. We looked at class, generation and gender not just because they were intrinsically interesting but also because particular occupational classes, generations and genders were reputed to have lost more than others in the transition from communism, and their differential losses might have influenced their commitment to socialist, nationalist and liberal democratic values. Aid to the Poor While American adults are more-or-less evenly divided on whether they would prefer a larger or a smaller government, more than six-in-ten 62% favor the government doing more to help needy Americans, even if it means going deeper into debt.

Related Books

- Pyramids of Montauk - explorations in consciousness
- Principles of personnel testing
- Han'guk p'aesyŏn myŏngsa 100-in sŏnjip
- Vermeer & the art of painting
- Trade and investment in China - the European experience