Two Rangers from the 3rd Battalion, 75th Ranger Regiment also died during the battle, possibly as a result of friendly fire.

SAMAA

Just how much profit Razziq makes from his total control of the border is impossible to gauge. Razziq, a leader of one of the two main tribes in the border area of Kandahar province, commands a few thousand local policemen in blue-grey uniforms at the frontier, one of only two legal highway crossing points between Afghanistan and Pakistan.

At least four civilians died in the blast, apparently set off by a suicide bomber in a minivan, and 20 people were hurt, including Raziq, whose injuries were described as minor. It was in reaction to such depredations by the warlords that the Taliban emerged, in 1994, from the districts around Kandahar city. He emerged as an undisputed Achakzai tribal leader and commands a private militia as well.
