New Hewell Grange

And what made it even more remarkable was that the young man who had dreamed it all up was such a diffident, unassuming person — not grand at all.

New Hewell Grange

Beds are crammed together, separated by makeshift partitions. Windsor-Clive held a number of, relatively minor, political offices, serving as under from 1890 to 1892, and under from 1902 to 1905. Here, we publish some of the pictures taken by Les Ladbury and by The Village as well as a history of the building by the late local historian Margaret Mabey.
