10 Best Virtual Contemporary Art Exhibitions

The naked and the dead

This exhibition is a place where the dead and the living mix. Now known as the 'murderme collection', this significant accumulation of works spans several generations of international artists, from well-known figures such as , , , and , to British painters such as , , and , and artists in earlier stages of their careers , David Choe, Ross Minoru Laing, Nicholas Lumb, Tom Ormond, and Dan Baldwin. Michelangelo made thousands of drawings, largely in preparation for other works, but burnt most of them in fear of other artists stealing his work.

Familiar Faces photography exhibition celebrating Newcastle business owners

It is not restricted in style, medium or theme. The exhibition includes portraits that capture the wide range of businesses across the town centre, from business owners and staff to new businesses starting out, thriving market stalls to established shops who have been operating in the town for up to 500 years, independent unique outlets to international chains.

Our People

Kiran Bedi since her appointment as Inspector General Prisons encouraged the community to join her in her crusade to reform the prison system. Ceres provides a showcase for women artists regardless of age, artistic style or commercial viability to exhibit their work in New York City.

These are the best art exhibitions to check out in Sydney now

Indeed I'm wondering why they're not applying to other exhibitions at the Mall Galleries! Likewise, the maze, which is in the background, also symbolises the confused mental state of her mind.
