Government of the people, by the people, for the people

Consider where we are now and where we are going. But Lincoln did not originate the expression. Its blue, white, and orange bands represent the colors of the Dutch flag that flew over the city, then New Amsterdam, between the 1620s and 1660s.

Americans' declining trust in government, each other: 8 key findings

Economists long ago tried to justify the vast inequalities that seemed so troubling in the mid-19th century—inequalities that are but a pale shadow of what we are seeing in America today. Search for Benefits and Programs for People with Disabilities Find government and local disability programs including.

Why do we say Government of the people, by the people, for the people?

Everett, who was famed for his orations, would talk at length about the great battle the previous summer. Those who hold those skeptical views are more likely than others to have greater concerns about the state of trust.

Democracy

. Scammers take the money you paid them and disappear.

Why do we say Government of the people, by the people, for the people?

It has all the powers that it chooses to exercise. President Donald Trump and his administration are mentioned in 14% of answers, and a smaller share lays the blame on Democrats. A nation that asks nothing of government but the maintenance of order is already a slave in the depths of its heart; it is a slave of its well-being, ready for the man who will put it in chains.
