Although none of the collections housed in the Archives de la Ville de Paris are specifically related to American art, documents within its collections mention numerous American artists who lived, studied or worked in Paris. Often found among these documents are attestations of citizen ship with erratic information concerning the appli cant, e. Among the correspondence from that year are many heartfelt reponses from fellow artists and other witnesses to the 1913 event, including Charles Sheeler, William Glackens, Stuart Davis, Andr   Derain, Henri Roch  , Walter Pach, and J.
