Later life He visited various countries for preaching and lectures — amongst them Qatar, Egypt, Kuwait, the United Arab Emirates, Spain and the United Kingdom.

Musabaqah Hifdzil Qur'an 2019

Nearly all the scholars of Baghdad from the jurists and the traditionists were tested, and all of them acknowledged the doctrine of the created Quran, with the exception of the two; Ahmad bin Hanbal and Muhammad bin Nuh. In 1963, he left Saudi Arabia and returned to his studies and work in the Az-Zahiriyyah library, leaving his watch shop in the hands of one of his brothers. When he was unable to stand, he would pray sitting, or sometimes lying on his side.

Life of Imam Ahl al

Ahmad, however, turned down the offers due to his general dislike of being close to the rulers. He was of Arab origin from Bani Shayban tribe.

This caused many to flee from Egypt, while the prisons became full of jurists and traditionists who resisted the government demands. He was forced to emigrate a number of times moving from Syria to Jordan, then Syria again, then Beirut, then the UAE, then again to Amman, Jordan. The enraged Caliph, upon hearing his response, personally decapitated him.
