John Patteson and Team Murdered

During this time, the Council of Bishops of the Anglican Church of New Zealand appointed the Bishop of Melanesia, and the Bishop of Melanesia was a full member of the New Zealand Council of Bishops.

The Annual Report of the Melanesian Mission for 1902

During my stay six more men joined us—Revs. Guadalcanar, until lately quite heathen, is now being evangelised, and a network of schools is being formed there by the labours of native teachers, many of them volunteers from other islands.

The Story of the Melanesian Mission (1926)

She will be a steel ship of about 500 tons gross measurement instead of 300, and capable of carrying nearly 400 tons of coal instead of 54. The exclusion of women from a male-only hierarchy was characteristic of most nineteenth century Christian denominations. George Selwyn (bishop of Lichfield)

AR 1969, 81 During 1970, eight new permanent churches were constructed and dedicated on Nggela, Isabel, Savo and Guadalcanal, and new permanent schools were erected at Jejevo, Bubaba and Ugi. The Missionary system of the Pacific, by which the four largest non-Roman Catholic bodies of Christians have for 50 years worked harmoniously side by side, is well known. The Mission has been consolidated here too.

In 1920, the was relocated from the island to the Solomon Islands to be closer to its target population. And such religious teaching as has been given has usually not been of the Church type. Of the other native clergy, I can only speak with the highest praise.

History of the Melanesian Brotherhood

That question stands out in the history of the last hundred years of the story of mission life as something that matters to the whole Church. The first phase was opened in mid-1970. Lately there has been a great development in Church building on native lines throughout Bugotu.

Mission heroes : Charles Alan Smythies, bishop of Zanzibar and missionary bishop in East Central Africa : Day, E. Hermitage (Ernest Hermitage), 1866

These boys were returned to Makira but had returned to customary worship when Rev. Clement Marau seems to grow in earnestness and power, and is now at Norfolk Island studying before ordination to Priests' Orders. Far more will be done some day in this way; but it is gratifying to see that the native Church is more and more seeing that it is its duty to give as well as receive.
