Why Some Parents Experience a Child's Coming Out as a Loss

If you grew up going to Gay Pride parades with your fathers, what happens when you grow up to be a straight man but still want to go to Gay Pride? Sometimes I think I should because by doing this I would help other boys to gain courage and come out. What would have happened if you had a child that was born with a severe birth defect, you would have changed your vision of how to raise that child and your family as a whole would have adjusted. They are fully consistent with an established body of research.

Families like mine

I'm 23, and my parents found out I was gay when I was 19. I feel that it just so selfish that they are gay and think of nothing but themselves. I felt our world turned upside down.

Gay and Lesbian Parents

Seek help through organizations such as PFLAG.

Father struggles to accept gay son.

Shame of course comes from so many sources and she is bold and honest about this and how it can be tackled. This is not really a self-exploration or memoir, but a good solid study comprised from years of talking to kids raised by gay or transgendered parents. Criticize our clothes, hair, accent, political view, friends, religious views, medical choices, bodies, homes? When I did, he said he was proud we had a relationship where I could talk to him about this and that he and his father were not close and that he loved me.

Kids Can Thrive with Gay Parents

If you have raised children, please suggest, they find a real, experienced, counselor to rid their minds of all the trash you implanted in their minds. We all have choices to make and there are consequences for those choices. Both practical and deeply personal, Families Like Mine provides an invaluable insider's perspective for LGBT parents, their families, and their allies.
