

Speak for yourself - a mass-observation anthology, 1937-1949

Oxford University Press - Mass by Angus Calder

Description: -

-

Juvenile justice, Administration of -- United States.

Reparation (Criminal justice) -- United States.

Mediation -- United States.

England -- Social life and customs -- 20th century. Speak for yourself

- a mass-observation anthology, 1937-1949

- Speak for yourself - a mass-observation anthology, 1937-1949

Notes: Includes bibliographical references (p. 253-257).

This edition was published in 1985

Filesize: 40.510 MB

Tags: #Speak #for #by #Calder

John Campbell · Kiss Count · LRB 19 April 1984

In each of these sections some items stand out.

Mass by Angus Calder

The spectacle of members of the upper class setting out solemnly and in a spirit of scientific research to study the lower classes in their natural habitat is a peculiarly Thirties phenomenon. Jessica Evans, Rivers Oram Press, 1997, pp. Not contain access codes, cd, DVD.

Mass Observation's 'Little Kinsey' and the British Sex Survey Tradition

Some moderate creases and wear.

Speak for by Calder

She titivates her hat on her left breast, touches her head. In these photographs realist aesthetics are fashioned to reflect bourgeois experience, which is assumed to be the only experience.

Mass by Angus Calder

It consisted of an annular outer building, divided into discrete, modular cells surrounding a central watch tower. Ben Highmore, Everyday Life and Cultural Theory: An Introduction, Routledge, 2002.

Speak for yourself : a mass

Jessica Evans, Rivers Oram Press, 1997. Angus Lindsay Ritchie Calder was a Scottish academic, writer, historian, educator and literary editor with a background in English literature, politics and cultural studies. Quite beside our managed presentation of self in everyday web-life, commercial businesses have the facility to capture another layer of data about our everyday actions.

Mass Observation's 'Little Kinsey' and the British Sex Survey Tradition

The Mass Observation was a project launched in the 1930s to investigate the daily lives, the thoughts and attitudes of ordinary people in Britain. Their initial catalogue of projects is more surreal than sociological: Behaviour of people at war memorials Shouts and gestures of motorists The aspidistra cult Bathroom behaviour Beards, armpits, eyebrows Anti-semitism Distribution, diffusion and significance of the dirty joke Funerals and undertakers Female taboos about eating The private lives of midwives Most of the surveys that Mass Observation conducted over the next 15 years were disappointingly more conventional. Very light general and edgewear to unclipped dustjacket.

Related Books

- Edo no iki - Tōto bunbutsu ōrai
- Kuriose Probleme der Arithmetik, Geometrie, Mathematik, Optik, Physik - für kleine und grosse Denker
- Intersoggettività originaria - la fondazione filosofica del diritto nel primo Fichte
- Modern pottery from Manises.
- Society and exploitation through nature