Inside Kashmir's Crisis—And What Happens Next

Both of which, to put it mildly, annoyed Delhi significantly. Since money link of the present Hurriyat leaders with their mentors or handlers in Pakistan has already been established, they must be incarcerated without delay, and must be kept away from circulation in the State. It is radical repudiation, going back on the promises and legal, political and moral commitments of his predecessors.

Pakistan: What next on Kashmir?

Supporters of this would tell you that this might be true in theory but in practice the central government has a tremendous amount of power over the state, including much greater control of the budget and much greater control of revenues. They seem a people apart, murderers of innocents with little rationale. It is time for India to take the bold step of withdrawing our complaint from the UN and start treating the Kashmir issue as an internal problem of India.
