Self

Colonial expansion to the north was prevalent. If the striking workers of the last three months are - horrors of horrors - challenging this system of industrial relations, then they are doing us all a service for which they should be applauded and not condemned. Farm workers must be warned: Whatever their claims, the interests of COSATU, absolutely committed to its alliance with the capitalist ANC government, are thoroughly antagonistic to the interests of the workers themselves.

At its height, the strike action spread across the entire mining industry, involving more than 100,000 miners in the platinum, gold and iron ore industries. On one hand, formally, salaries have risen from 69 rand to 105 rand, but many farmers pay less. BAWSI has no authority to speak for 15 000 farm workers in the region.
