Perhaps the author most affected by Balzac was American expatriate novelist. Soon afterwards, around the time of his father's death, Balzac wrote —about a 30-year-old man who kills his father Balzac was 30 years old at the time. This was an unhappy time in his life, during which he attempted suicide on a bridge over the.

In England, where four-fifths of the population use cotton to the exclusion of linen, they make nothing but cotton paper. The milk of human kindness is seldom in evidence here, and when it is, it is annihilated by self interest, jealousy and malice. Balzac, unlike many great authors, set out to give his readers exactly that.
