Living with FeLV

Adolescent dogs become less dependent on their owners for guidance as they begin to explore other dogs, scents, and environments.

Behavior Guide for Your New Puppy

Coverage begins with a foundation of evolutionary histories and domestication, focusing on normal communication and social behavior patterns. Stop moving the box if she stops using it; instead simply move it back to the spot where she last reliably used it, then gradually begin moving it again.

He formerly chaired the AAEP Research Grant Committee and is a board member of Felines and Friends, a cat rescue organization in Santa Fe, New Mexico. A cat with an aversion to her litter box will usually eliminate on a variety of surfaces. Another useful commercial product is Feliway, a synthetic pheromone that, when applied to household surfaces, mimics the scent of cat cheek gland secretions.

Feline Behaviorists

Close partnership with the veterinary team is essential in these situations. Introduction Congratulations on your new puppy! Discussions focus on the changing role of a cat's behavior for humans, as well as new treatments that arise as more is understood about cat behavior.
