It is also acceptable to submit separate TIFF, PDF, EPS vector artwork , or CDX ChemDraw file files. Ancillary data and material of interest mainly to specialists is placed in Supporting Information to shorten the length of text in research manuscripts. The latter may be a family physician or a subspecialist in another discipline.

Guide for authors

Can we post multiple replies to each reviewer? Code submission gives more information to reviewers, especially for replicability of the paper.

Author Guide

Formatting requirements There are no strict formatting requirements but all manuscripts must contain the essential elements needed to convey your manuscript, for example Abstract, Keywords, Introduction, Materials and Methods, Results, Conclusions, Artwork and Tables with Captions. Critical Reviews are not intended to consist of catalogues of prior research and must go beyond synthesis to include analysis. If the procedures are already published, provide citations to previous publications and expand only on differences in the current work.

Author Guidelines

Graphics should be inserted into the main body whenever possible. They will coordinate publication of the paper to coincide with the press release.

Author Guidelines

Be sparing in the use of tables and ensure that the data presented in them do not duplicate results described elsewhere in the article. Please see the for complete details. Although using such a service does not guarantee acceptance of a manuscript, they may help in clarifying the significance of your research.

Author Guide

Tables and Figures Tables and figures should be carefully designed to maximize presentation and comprehension of the experimental data with superfluous information excluded. The system automatically converts your files to a single PDF file, which is used in the peer-review process. Reviewing Process Submissions to ICLR are uploaded on OpenReview, which enables public discussion during the review process public discussion phase, which lasts until November 17, 2020, as well as further discussion between authors, reviewers and area chairs until November 24, 2020.
